This series is fantastic. It fills a hole in the market for readers who are past three letter words, but not ready for 100 page chapter books. They also deal with topics that 5-7 year olds are facing, anxiety about social situations, worrying about hard spelling tests, making new friends, etc. The Hey Jack books helped my 5 year old get past some very strong perfectionist issues and he really felt that he accomplished a tremendous feat when he finished his first book. I would highly recommend this series to any parent who is helping their new reader.

Fantastic series for first graders or struggling readers

By R. Pollack

A fantastic series for emergent readers--or older students who are struggling readers. The text is large font and the sentence structure is simple yet not dumbed down. The perfect readers for students who are ready for 15 to 40 words per page.

I am using this series with a struggling reader who is in grade 4. The easy text is the perfect level for him to read, yet the stories are still engaging enough for a 10-year-old.
